APICS Presents Synergy Resources with the Technology and Mentor Award

Award Is Granted In Appreciation of Outstanding Support For The NYC-LI APICS Chapter and Recognition of Commitment To The Pursuit of Excellence in Operations Management

Hampton, New Hampshire — Synergy Resources, www.synergyresources.net, provider of Lean Manufacturing Technology and Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) software solutions and services, was awarded the “Technology and Academic Mentor Award” by the New York City – Long Island APICS Chapter. The award was presented to Synergy Resources’ Lou Miranda, Executive VP of Professional Services, with approximately 50 APICS members in attendance at the June 3rd NYC-LI APICS Chapter meeting held at Panama Hatties in Huntington Station, NY.

The award, presented by the NYC-LI APICS Chapter President, John Boyko, was in recognition of a grant of software and services to the State University of New York (SUNY) Farmingdale State College. The gift, presented to Farmingdale State College in April of this year, will provide leading edge supply chain business application technology for the college’s business and computer systems classes. The gift has a commercial value of close to $200,000 and includes Infor ERP VISUAL software from Infor and implementation and training services from Synergy Resources. Through this gift students will learn how to apply technology to manage a company’s integrated supply chain from manufacturing and purchasing to warehousing and distribution.

Last year, Synergy Resources also provided a similar gift of software and services to the SUNY Binghamton University in the Fall of 2007, providing similar benefits to their business and computer curriculum. “We are honored to be in the position to provide our assistance to these schools,” explains Lou Miranda. “Our goal is to help students gain a distinct advantage in the job market, with practical knowledge of the technology and software tools being used to keep American manufacturing competitive. In addition, our customers, who operate small and midsize manufacturing companies, tell us that they struggle to find qualified people who are experienced in supply chain management technology. We recognize the growing need for management students to gain a working knowledge of ERP systems and we see this as an opportunity to give back to the community. The program will help to fill the demand for these skills in local manufacturing companies.”
